1976 COMETA
South Gwinnett High School
Snellville, Georgia

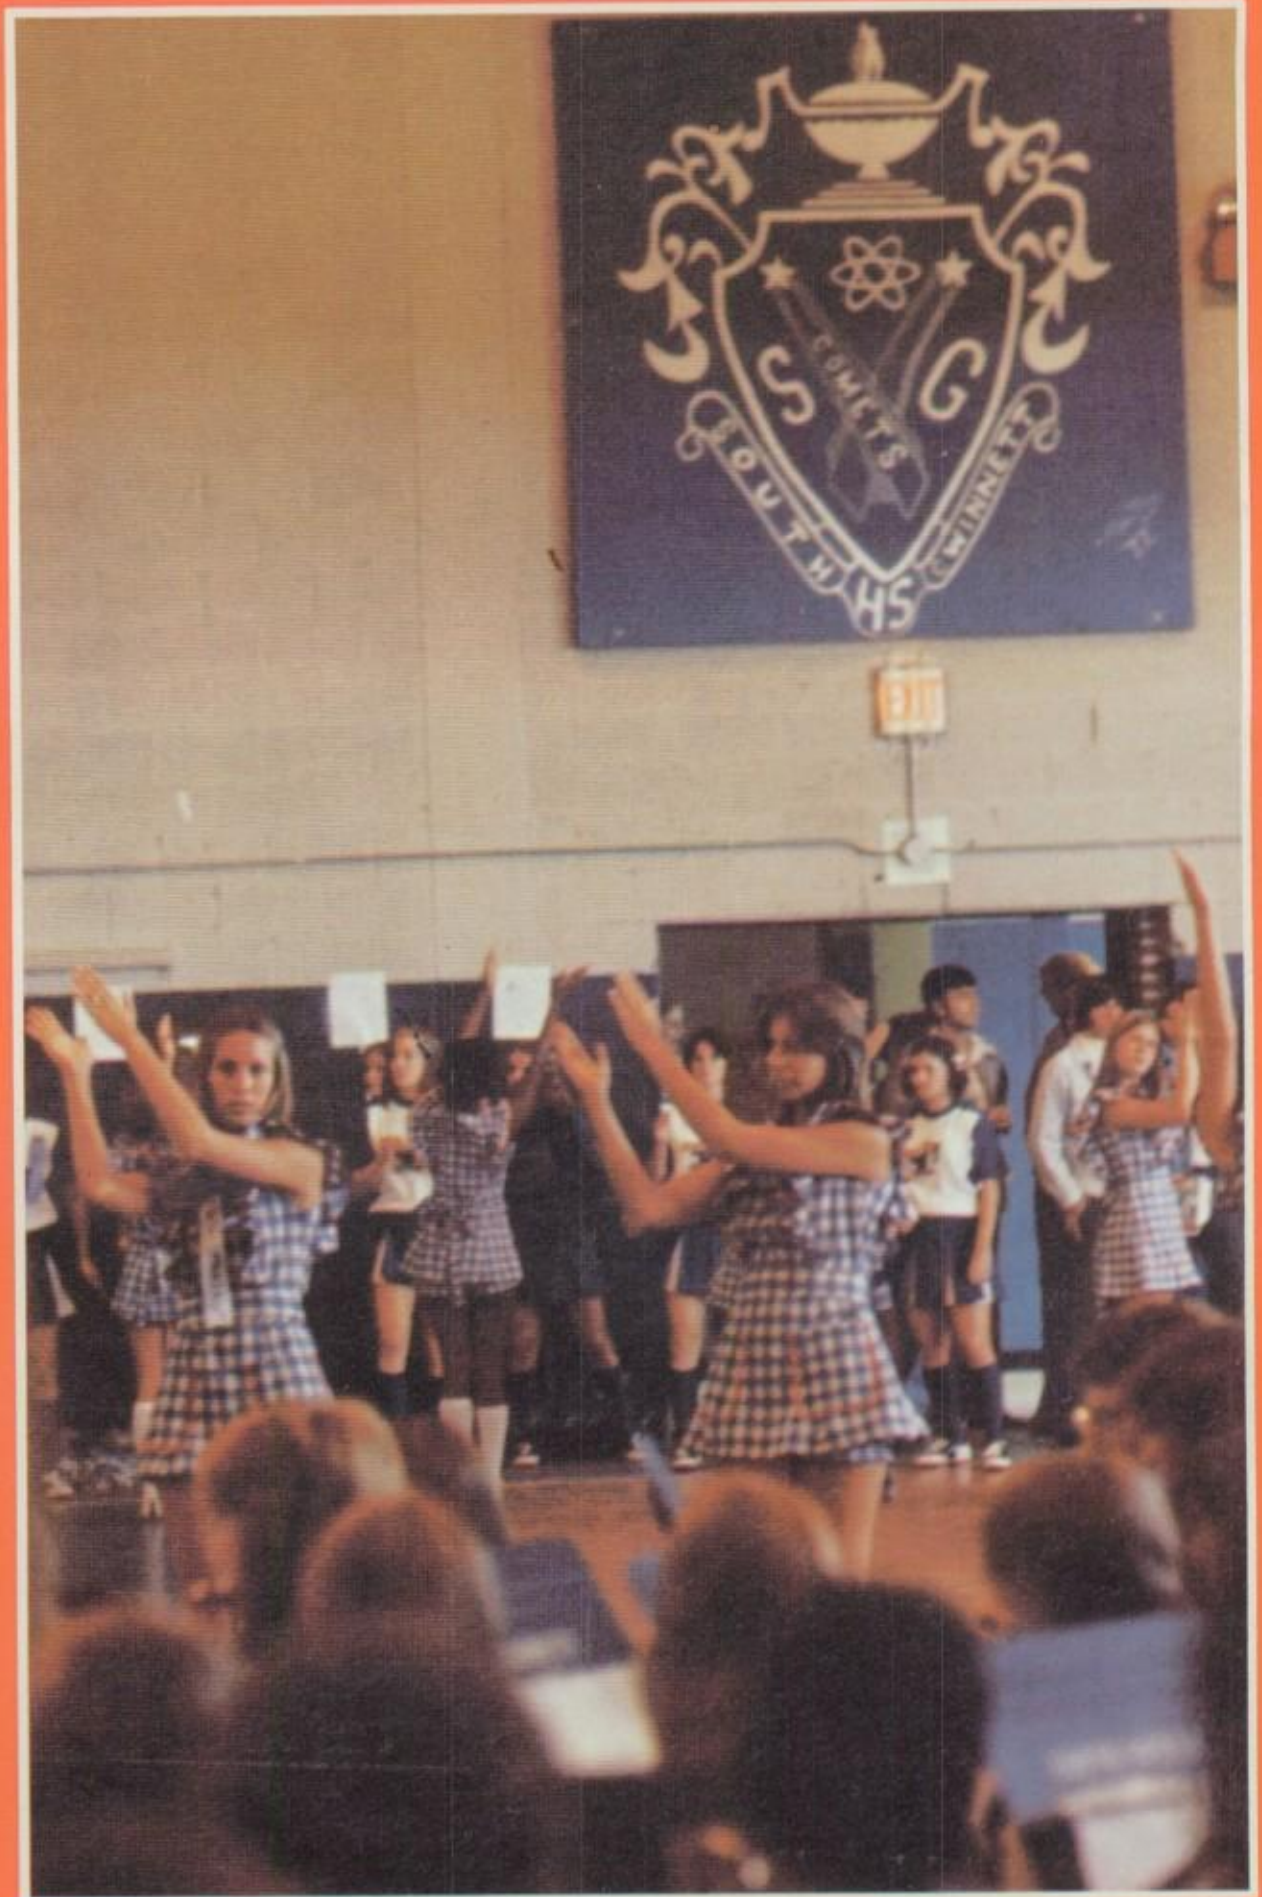

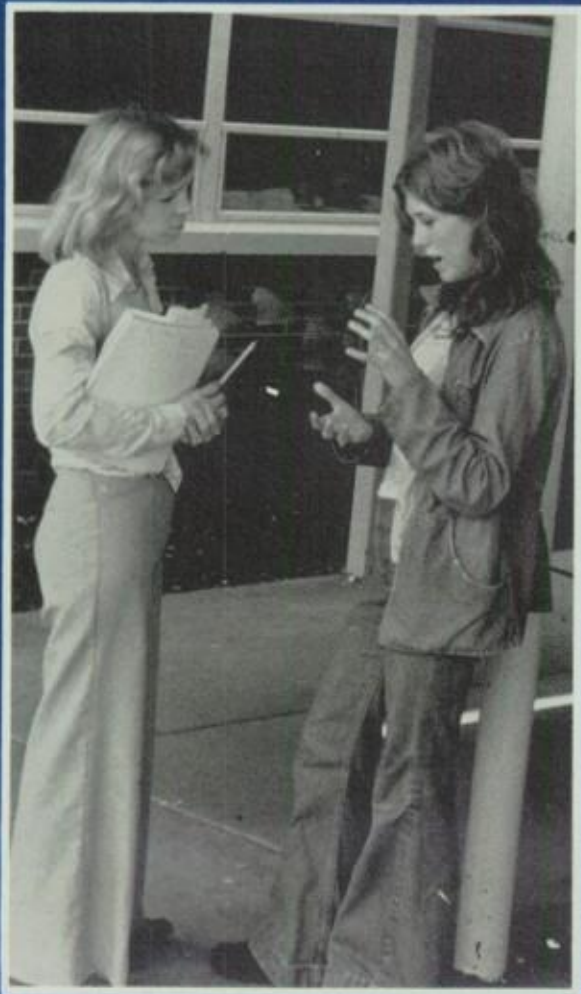

Two hundred years ago a nation was born out of dreams and hopes of diverse peoples united by common ideals of equality, justice, freedom of expression and fraternity.

Lheir ideals turned into dreams; their dreams into reality. Today as we reminisce the lives of our nation's founders, the significance of their ideas is illuminated before us.

Reality has extended beyond the outer limits of our forefathers' imaginations; but the principles of America's founding are continual, never to be weakened or tarnished.

Like a growing school whose building must be expanded, have walls moved and floors replaced, America has grown, but our basic ideals have endured the changes. Regardless of the number of times a building is altered, the foundation remains the same.

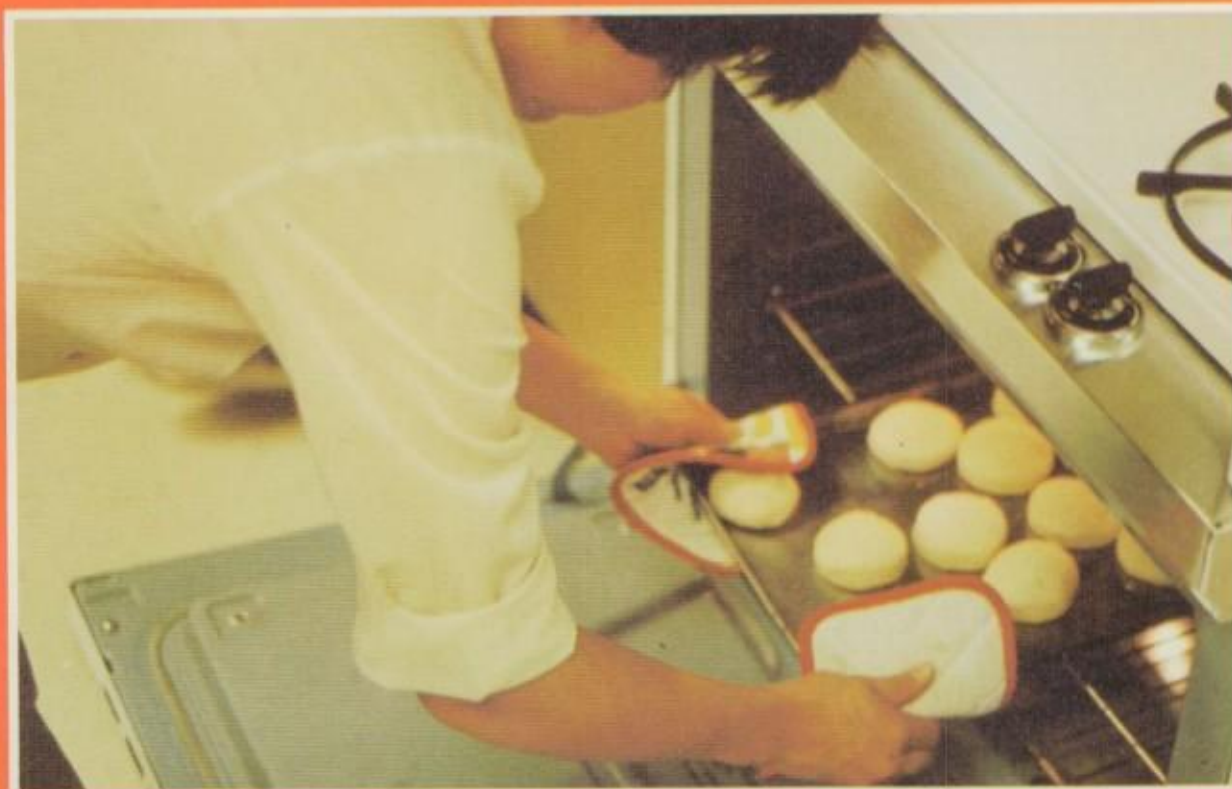

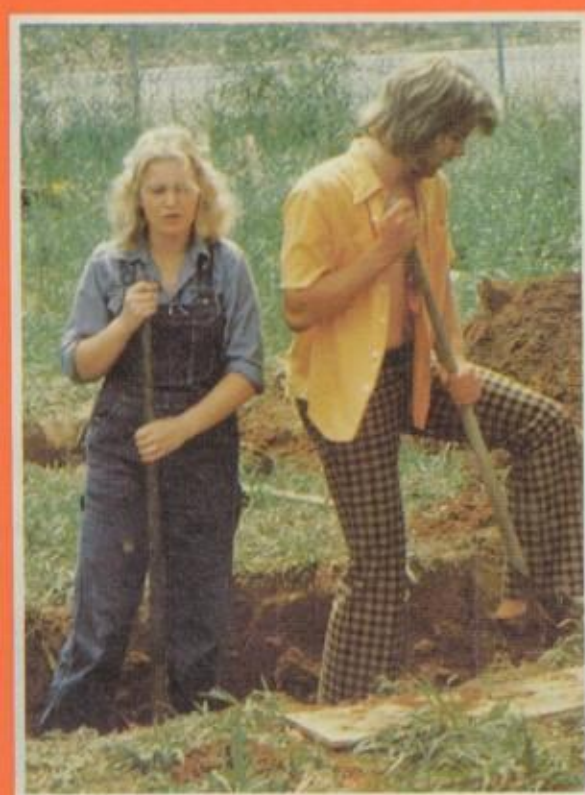

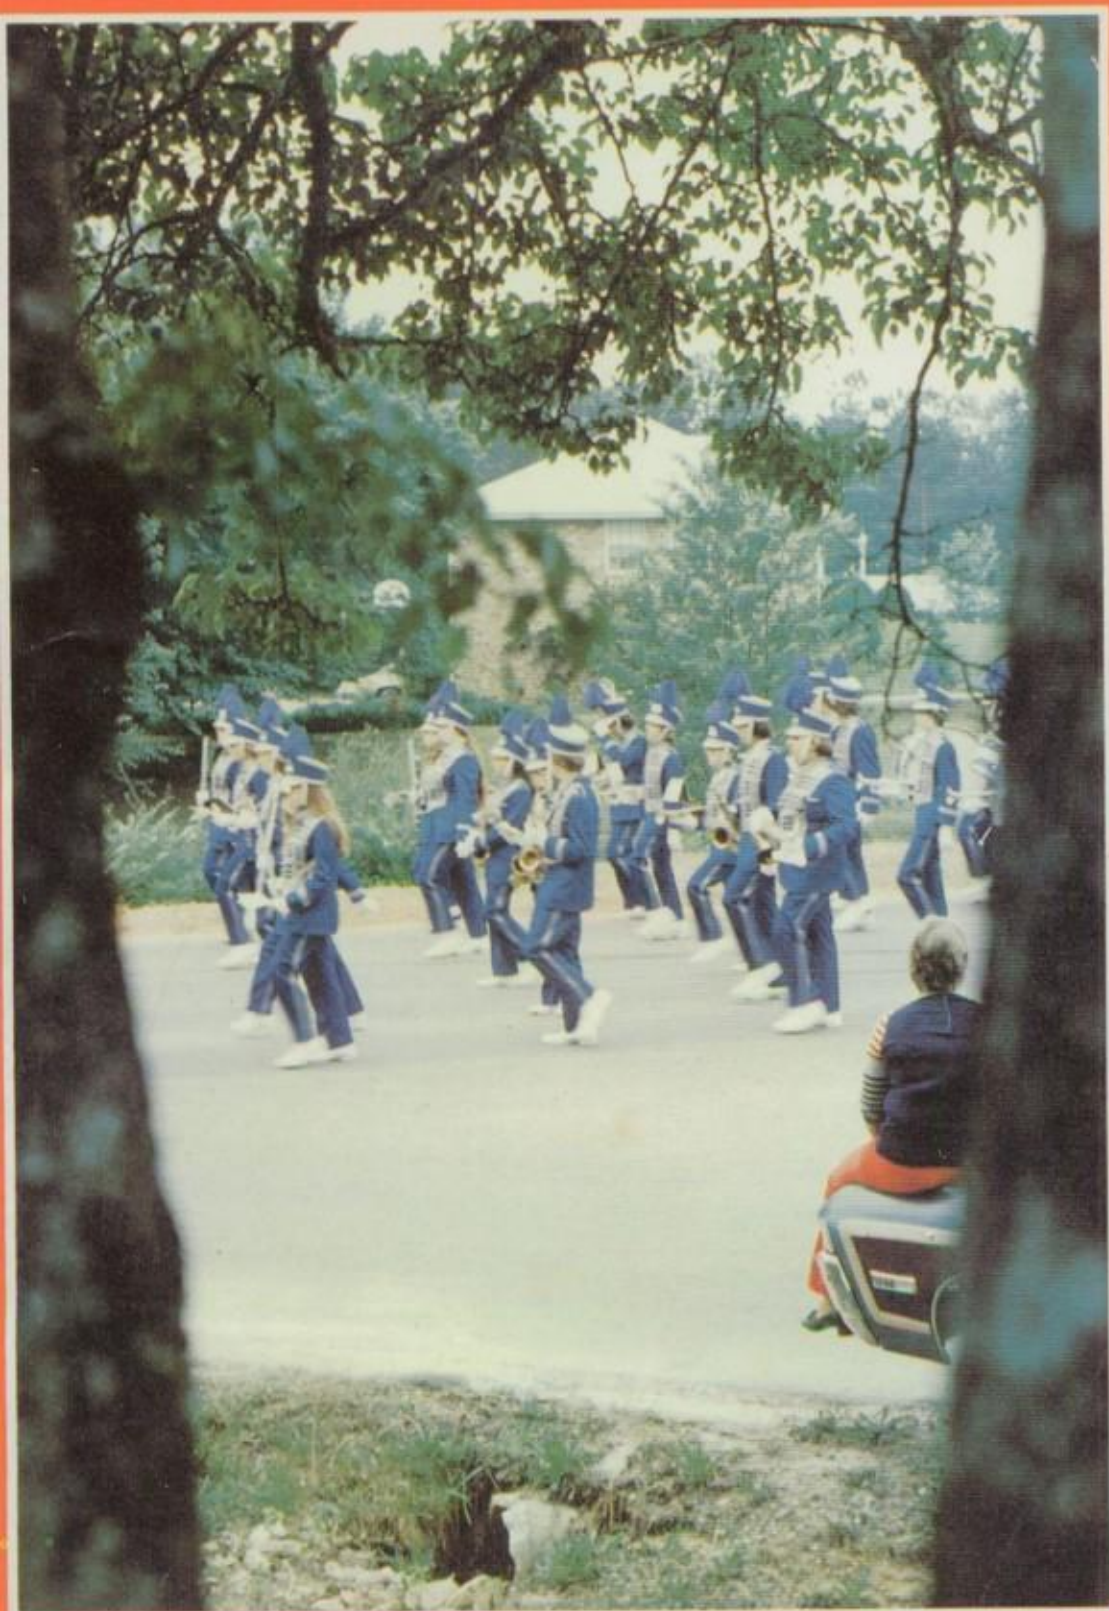

The forgone years have but only enriched the ideals of 1776 to proceed unchanged and sound in our ever-advancing society of 1976.

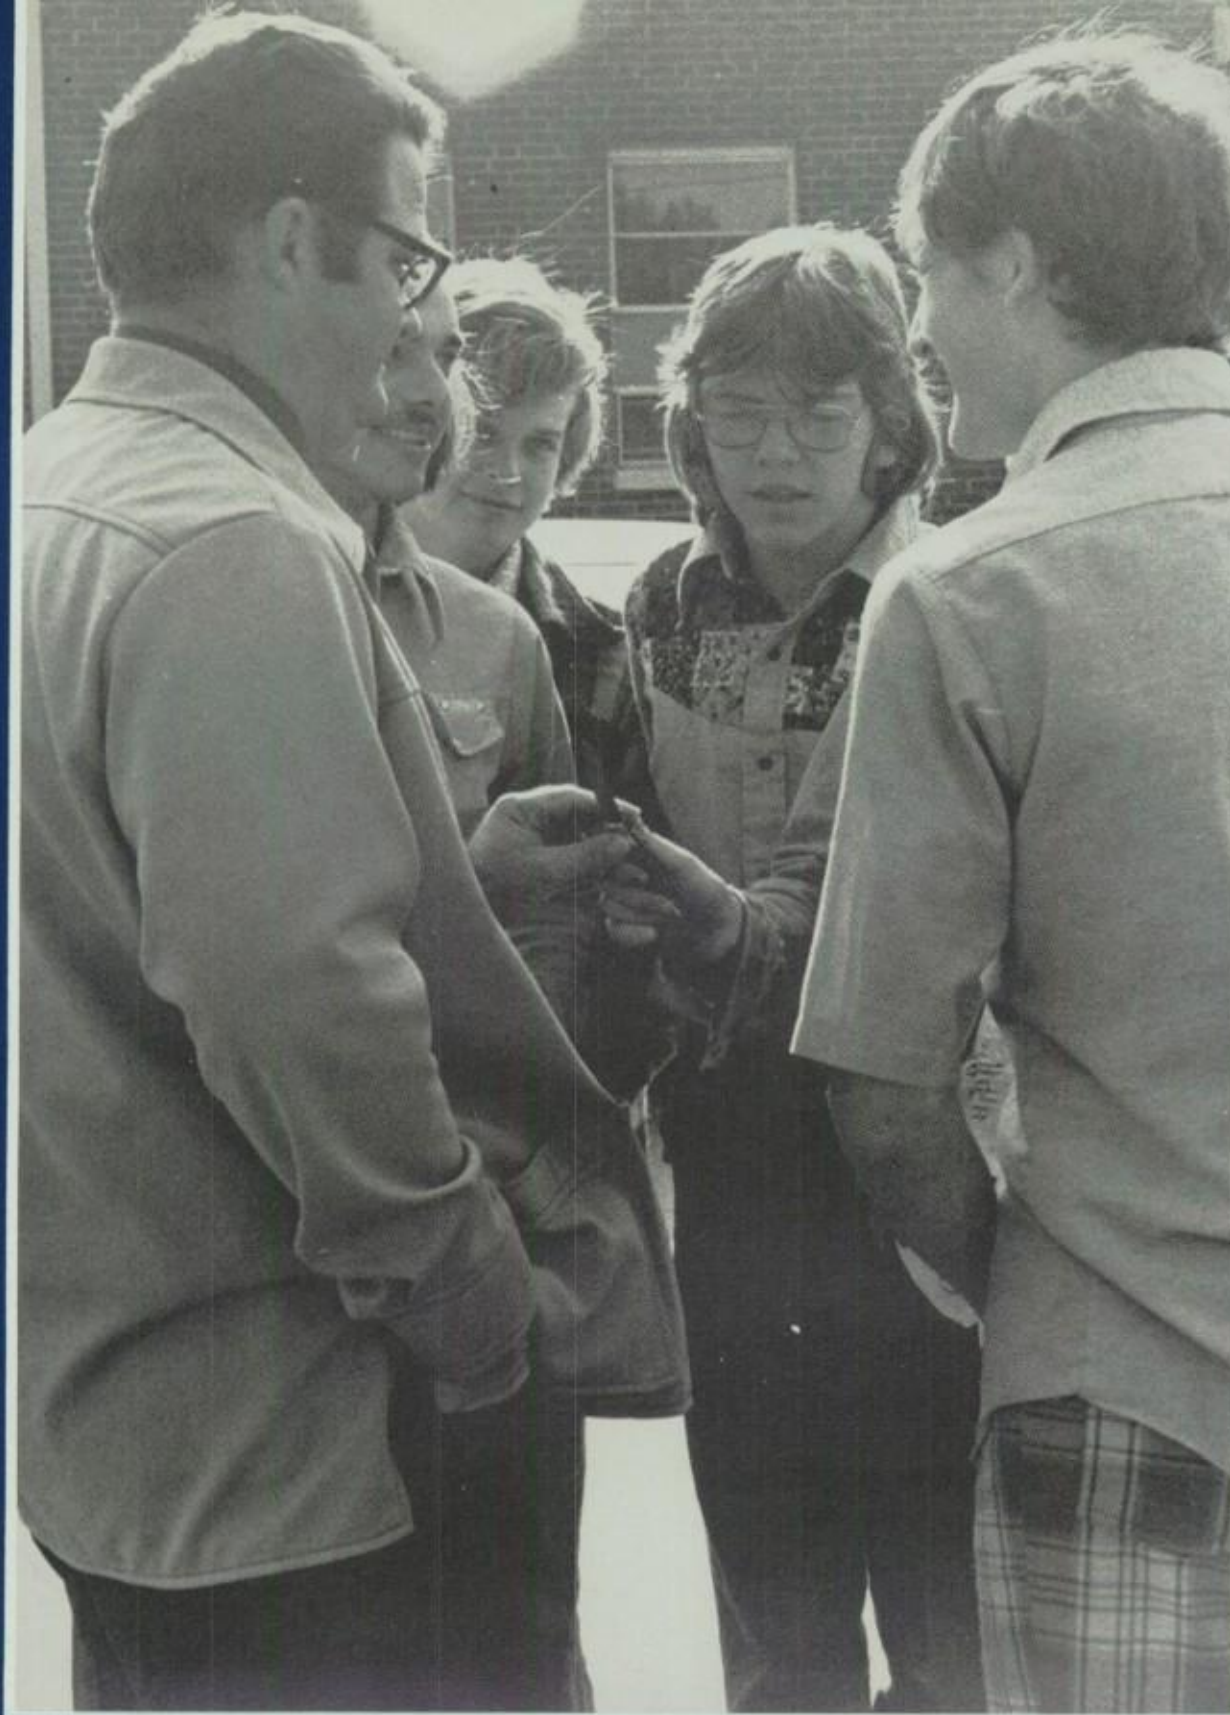

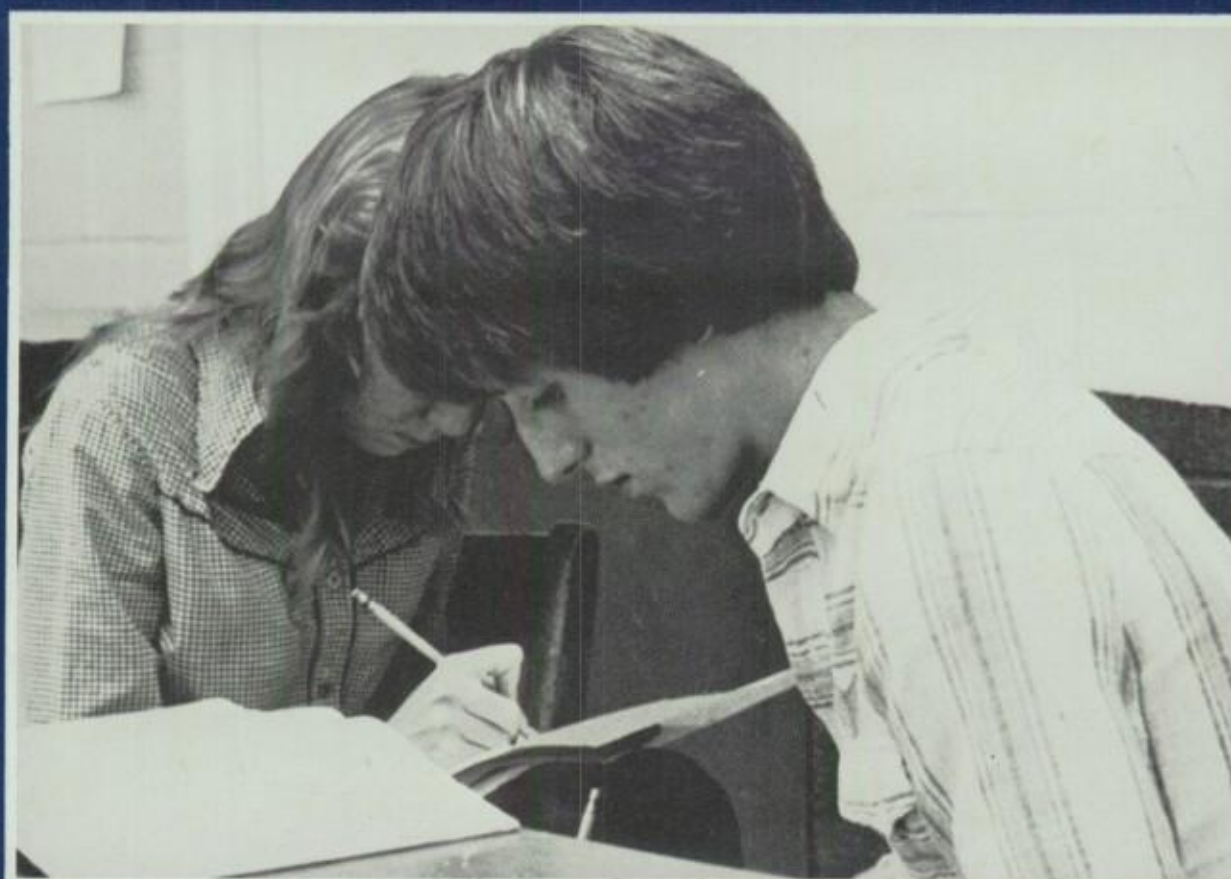

ur present society continues to uphold the ideals that in years past inspired our forefathers to seek goals set high. This determination and spirit is richly evident in every facet of American life, especially in education.

Inherent to the freedom of every American is the right of self-expression — the right to be oneself. The multitude of varied events which occur during the year at South Gwinnett create numerous opportunities for each student to express himself. These activities also reflect America's two-hundred-year-old ideals. Fraternity is displayed as South's athletes strive as a team toward victory and club members construct homecoming floats; and justice and equality abound because each and every student has the chance to participate . . .

In the Course of Human Events

Freedom of Self-Expression Inspires Student Activities

An essential component to the continuation of the American way of life is freedom — the right of each individual to express himself by any means he desires. At South Gwinnett, a variety of activities and means of self-expression are prevalent in the lives of many students. Constructing a homecoming float, diligently sketching a drawing for art class, and attending or participating in a football game are each elements of the infinite set of curricular and extracurricular activities which are the main ingredients of South Gwinnett life. While these activities and means of expression create pleasant moments and memories, each student inadvertently attains a higher level of maturity and a larger account in his bank of valuable experiences.

Pageant Participants Display Poise and Personality

Enhancing the South Gwinnett gymnasium March 15, 1975, forty-four senior, junior, and sophomore girls participated in the annual Miss SGHS pageant. The contestants as a group entertained with a snappy dance routine prior to their individual appearances, first in sportswear and later in evening gowns. Judged on appearance, poise, and personality, Senior Lynn Smith was chosen to reign as Miss South Gwinnett 1975. Another prized title of the pageant is Miss Congeniality, the recipient selected by the girls themselves. Senior Elaine Bryan received this honor for the second time in two years.

Students Hailed for Noteworthy Achievement

On May 19, 1975, the second annual South Gwinnett awards banquet was held, signifying the inevitable termination of the '74-75 school year. Approximately 225 students and their parents dined pleasantly in the informal atmosphere of a buffet-style dinner. Immediately following the dinner, the students were hailed for their overall academic achievements or specific areas of noteworthy attainment. Participants in the Region Literary Meet were also recognized for their literary excellence. Special recognition given to certain seniors concluded the ceremonies of an enjoyable banquet, an appropriate way to honor deserving and industrious students.

South Excels in Literary Meets

South Gwinnett had excellent representation in the region and state literary meets, exhibiting talent and proficiency in music, drama, debate, business skills, spelling, essay, and public speaking. In regional competition, three first places — Sue Martin for Girls Solo; Greg Doss, Ken Brewer, Fritz Musser, Randy Lindsey for Boys Quartet; Steve Shivers for Piano Solo — three second places — Debate; Lloyd Kerr for Oral Interpretation; Linda Finley for Girls Spelling — two third places — Brent Futo for Boys Essay; Linda Finley for Girls Typing — and four fourth places — Steve Rogers for Extemporaneous Speaking; Eddie Stafford for Boys Typing; One-Act Play; Belinda Aiken for Shorthand — awarded South second place in Region 8AA.

Having captured first place in region, the boys quartet, soloist Sue Martin and pianist Steve Shivers went on to participate in the state competition. In girls solo, Sue Martin again took top honors, and the boys quartet won fifth place in the state literary meet.

Student Talent Brings Life to The Late Christopher Bean

On May 23 and 24, 1975, through cooperative and diligent efforts, the advanced acting class produced two superb performances of THE LATE CHRISTOPHER BEAN. The three-act play by Sidney Howard paints a humorous picture of greed as a motivating factor of life in Boston, Massachusetts 1939. The characters of the amusing play, ably directed by Ms. McKiernan, were aptly portrayed by several members of the class while the remainder of the class worked behind the scenes on props, costumes, make-up, lighting, and publicity. Their end result was applauded by the crowd in attendance with a standing ovation.

Students Attain National and Regional Acclaim

Striving for academic excellence, South continues to receive honors and acclaim in scholastic endeavors. Three SGHS students were named as semi-finalists in the 1976 National Merit Scholarship program. The three — Gwen Anderson, Steve Rodgers, and Mark Warner — are among the highest scoring students in the country taking the 1974 Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test-National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test. Having scored among the top half of one percent in the country, they will remain in the national competition in hopes of qualifying as finalists and winning a Merit Scholarship. Each of the three semi-finalists has been an outstanding participant in both the academic and extracurricular areas at South Gwinnett. In addition, certificates of commendation were awarded to Amy Dickerson and Tommy Marney whose outstanding PSAT scores earned them places in the top four percent of the PSAT ranking.

The annual North Georgia College High School Scholars Bowl, a school activity involving academic proficiency and dexterity of the mind and hand, was won by South. The team members — Terry Henry, Tracy Ayers, Larry Locke, Mark Vigorito, led by captain Steve Rodgers — contended with eighteen schools for the top honors. Awarded two hundred and fifty dollars and a trophy for their achievement, the team won nine of the ten games they played in this double elimination competition.

Consistent Pitching Hurls Comets Into Winning Season

Baseball Coach John Sawyer won his one hundredth game at South as the Comets posted another winning season. Although the Comets failed to advance into the playoffs, the 13-7 won-lost record gave Comet fans many opportunities to cheer. Among these wins was a 2-1 victory over Gainesville which handed Gainesville their only defeat in subregion play.

An important factor in the success of the season was the consistent Comet pitching. Jerry Head had the lowest earned run average of 1.10, followed by Loy Hughes with an earned run average of 1.61, and Rodney Vining with an earned run average of 2.21. As a team, the Comets allowed only 2.84 earned runs per game by the opposition.

In the batting department, Rodney Vining led the team with an average of .396. Jerry Wilborn and Steve Tedder, who missed seven games because of an injury, each had a batting average of .333. Vining also led the team with thirteen RBI's and three homeruns. Steve Tedder had twelve RBI's and two homeruns. The team batting average was .262.

The Comet's B-Team baseball team also had a successful season with a record of eight wins and four losses.

Bob Kern led the team in batting with an average of .485, followed by David Boggs with an average of .474 and Greg Bender with a .415 average. Kern, Bender, and Greg McCart each hit ten or more RBI's and Sam Crowe and Bob Kern each banged two homeruns.

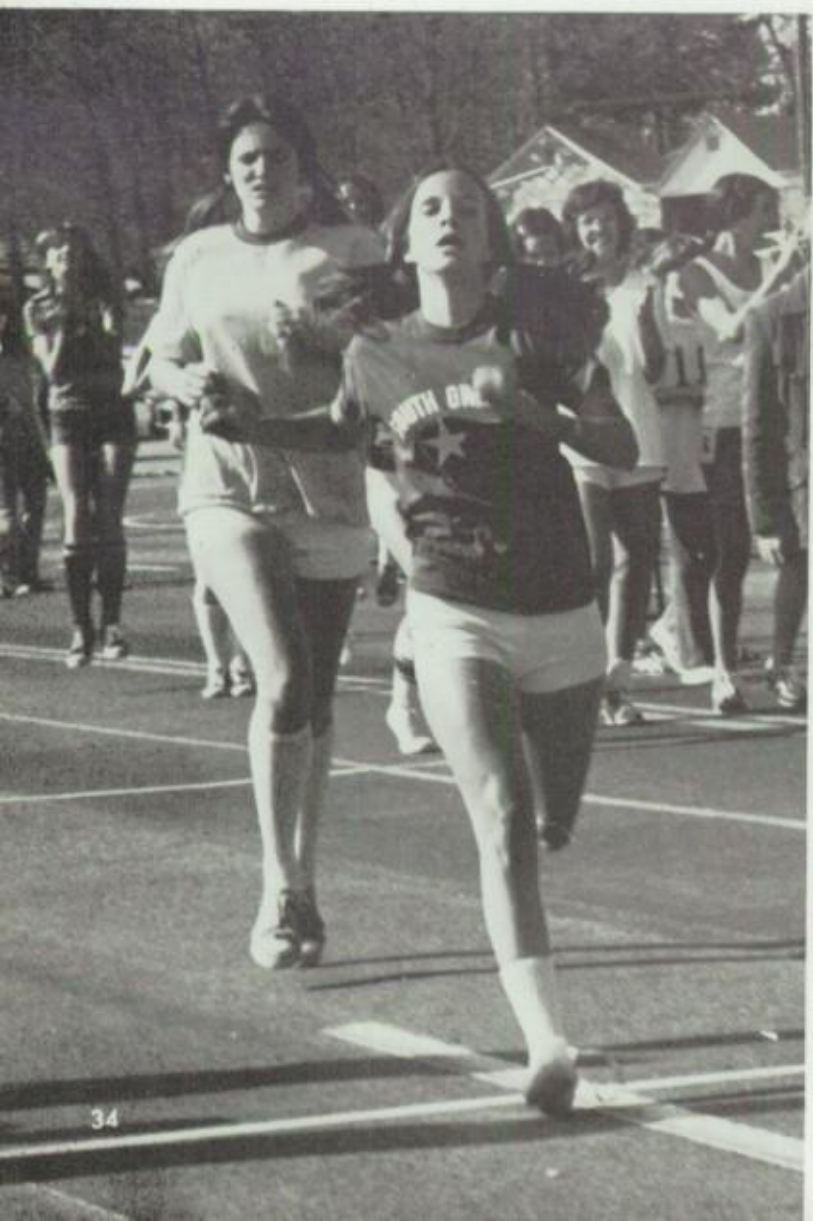

In the pitching department, Mark Nash led the team with an ERA of 2.56. Nash also had the best won-lost record with four wins and only one loss.

State Invitations Spark Team Spirit

Despite the mediocre regular season record of two wins and two losses, the South Gwinnett Girls Track team placed second in the region meet and boasted many outstanding individual performers. Melissa Doss hurled the discus 89'6½" to capture first place in one meet; Viv Clark was victorious four times in the shot put competition; Terri Burns won four long distance running events; and Karen Anderson, Debbie Davis, Barbara Latham, and Carrie Parker — the members of the 440 relay team — were undefeated in all four meets. Debbie Davis also swept the high jump event, winning four times and leading the team in total points.

Because of these performances, five members of the Comet's girls track team — Karen Anderson, Viv Clark, Carrie Parker, Barbara Latham, and Debbie Davis — attained the distinction of receiving invitations to the state track meet.

Comet Hustle Produces Record- Breaking Season

The South Gwinnett boys track team again had an outstanding season. South posted a 12-1 record in dual competition while many individuals broke school records. Vince Cowell bettered the shot-put record with a 47'11 1/2" throw, Dink Smith set a new mark in the pole vault competition with a vault of 11'6", and Curtis Woods ran the mile in 4:46. Ric Jarvis ran the 330 intermediate hurdles in 42.4 while Darrell Crider, Billy Thomas, Barry Brantley, David Melton, and Curtis Woods ran the distance medley in 11:54, completing the impressive list of broken records. Two of these record breakers, Vince Cowell and Dink Smith, went on to participate in the state track meet.

These outstanding individual performances boosted the Comets to a second place finish in the county meet, a fourth place finish in the subregion, and a sixth place finish in the region.

Disorganization Frustrates Aspiring Tennis Team

The lack of more organized practices and the fact that the team members practiced at different courts severely handicapped the young Comet tennis team, enabling them to win only two team matches while losing five and tying three.

Despite disappointing win-loss records, as in the previous year, many young Comet players gained invaluable experience, laying the foundation for a strong future for Comet tennis.

Several of the team members, such as Reggie Davis, who went to the semi-finals in the region, had very good seasons. Brian Evans and John Sherry went to the semi-finals in the doubles competition, while Kathy Foster and Georgia Polson placed third in the Junior Division at the LanierLand Invitational Tournament. The most improved players were Kathy Foster and Reggie Davis.

Narrow Defeats

Comet Drive

Even though the golf team ended the 1975 season with a repeat of the previous year's win-loss record, some improvement was evident. The four wins and four losses could have easily been six wins and two losses, as the Comets suffered two heartbreaking defeats in sudden death to Johnson and Norcross.

As in the 1974 season, the 1975 golf team added more new players. More participants evidence the fact of a growing interest in golf at South Gwinnett, which should be an asset to the success of South Gwinnett golf in the future.

Returning from last year's team, Mike Cook attained the lowest eighteen-hole score of the season, seventy-nine. John Cook achieved the lowest nine-hole score with a thirty-nine.

Earlier Pageant Lengthens Queen's Reign

On the night of October 11, 1975, a much earlier date than usual, the South Gwinnett gym was transformed into a place of magic and elegance. It was a very special evening for the sixty-six girls who competed in the Miss South Gwinnett Pageant. As the girls were judged for poise, personality and overall appearance, senior Robyn Street was crowned as queen. The pageant was held earlier so that the winner will reign for the majority of the school year.

The pageant began with a "Hand Jive" routine by all of the girls, followed by the contestants' appearances in sportswear and later in evening gowns. These outfits were chosen by the girls themselves to fit their own tastes and personalities.

When other awards were presented, Karen Flanigan and Carol Rawlins were co-recipients of the sponsorship award, and Shelby Rawlins received the Sara Bramlett award. Jennifer Peevy was chosen in voting by the other contestants as this year's Miss Congeniality.

Spirit Colours Homecoming World

Friday, October 24, was filled with activities for all those involved in the 1975 Homecoming. To begin the day, hushed cheerleaders sold spirit ribbons and continued the day stifled by a "silence" contest, which came to a climax at the pep rally as all of the students who caught one of the girls talking during the day engaged in a pie throwing contest with the cheerleaders as the targets.

As the festivities continued, the highlight of the afternoon was the colorful annual Homecoming parade. South's band, drill team, and twirling corps marched while school clubs proudly exhibited floats to show their Comet spirit.

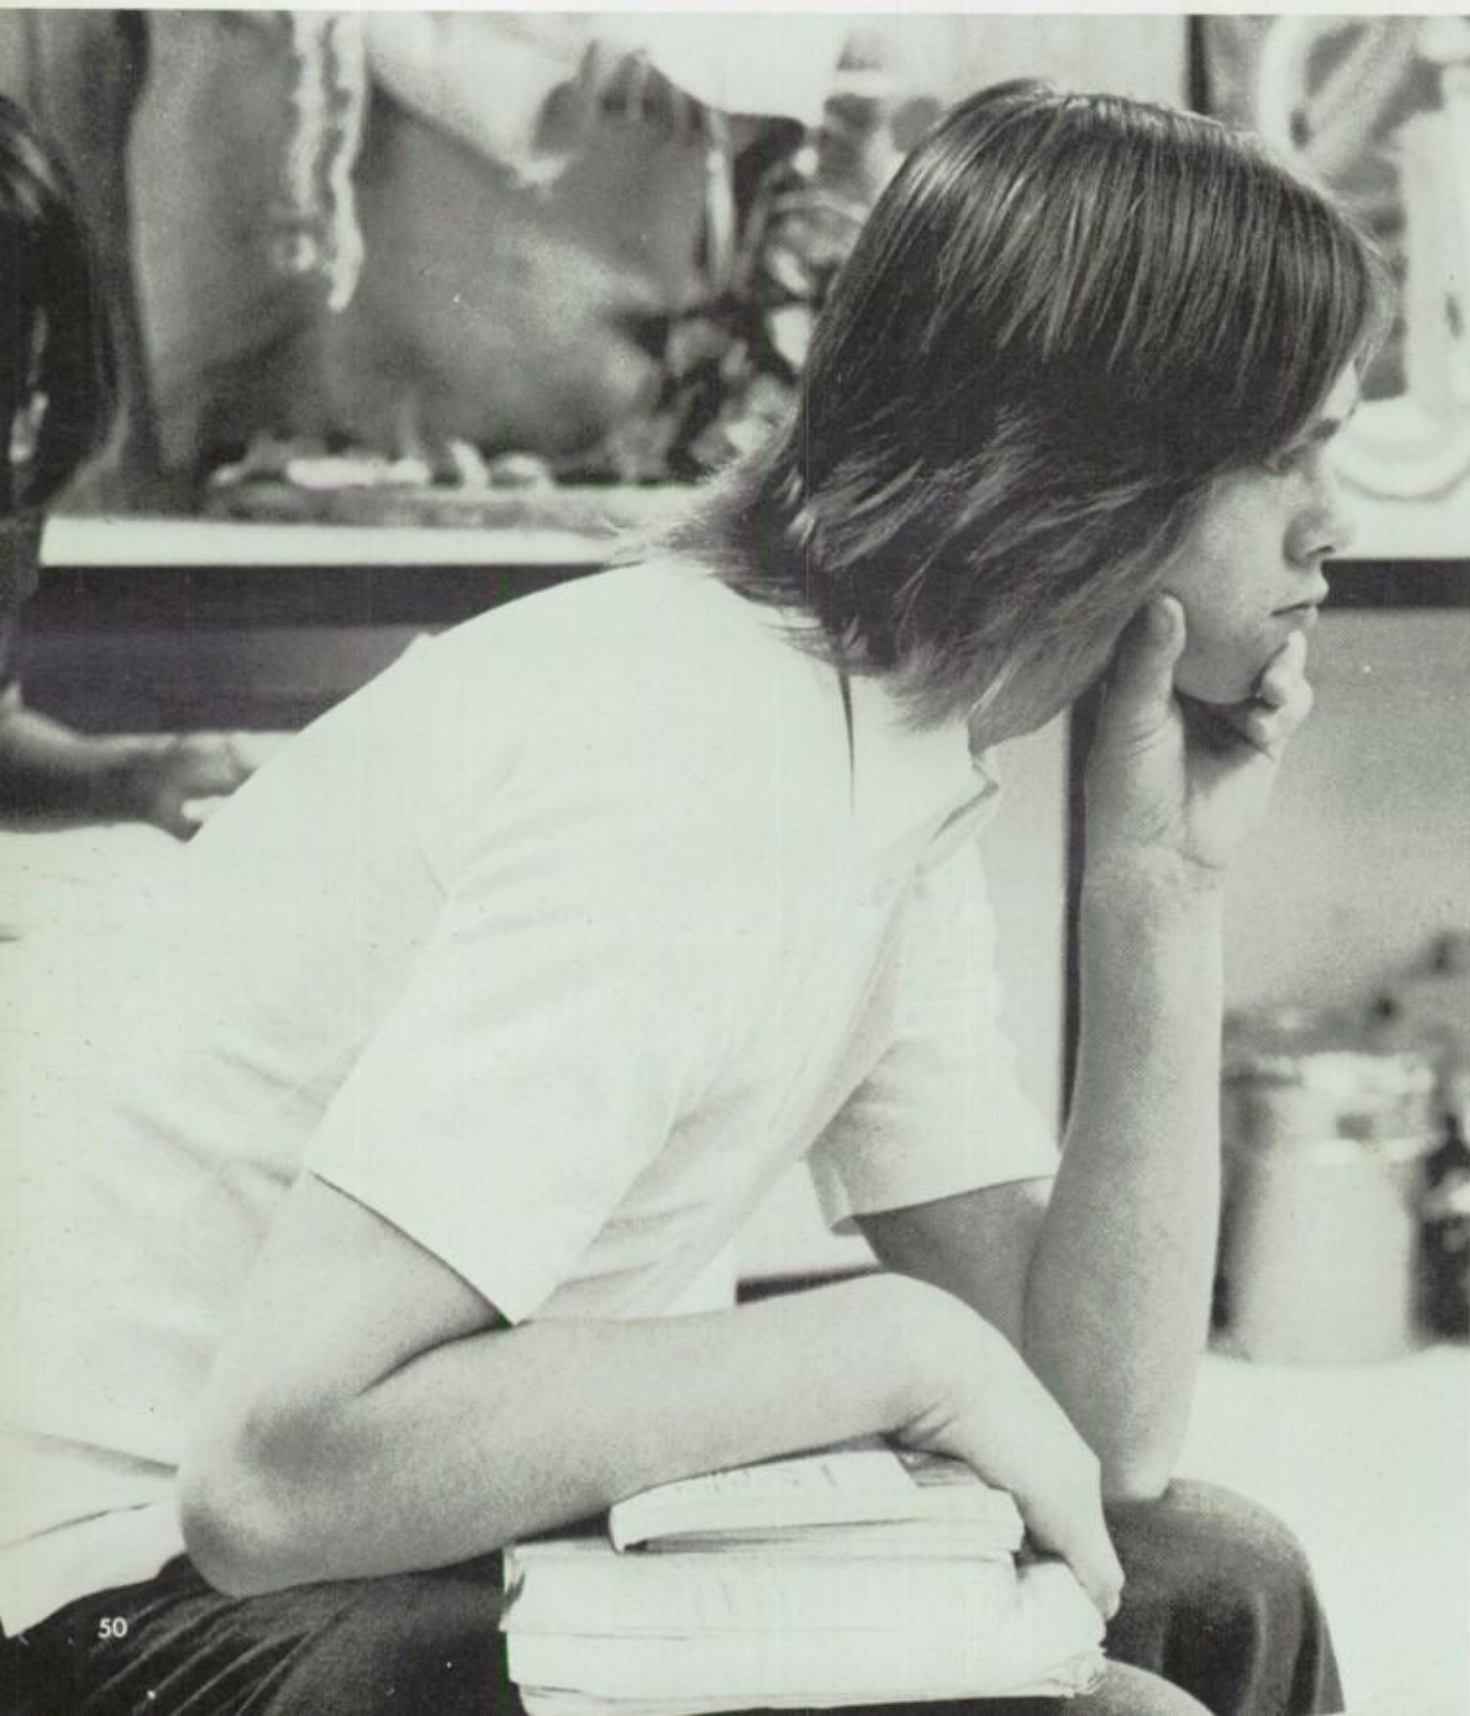

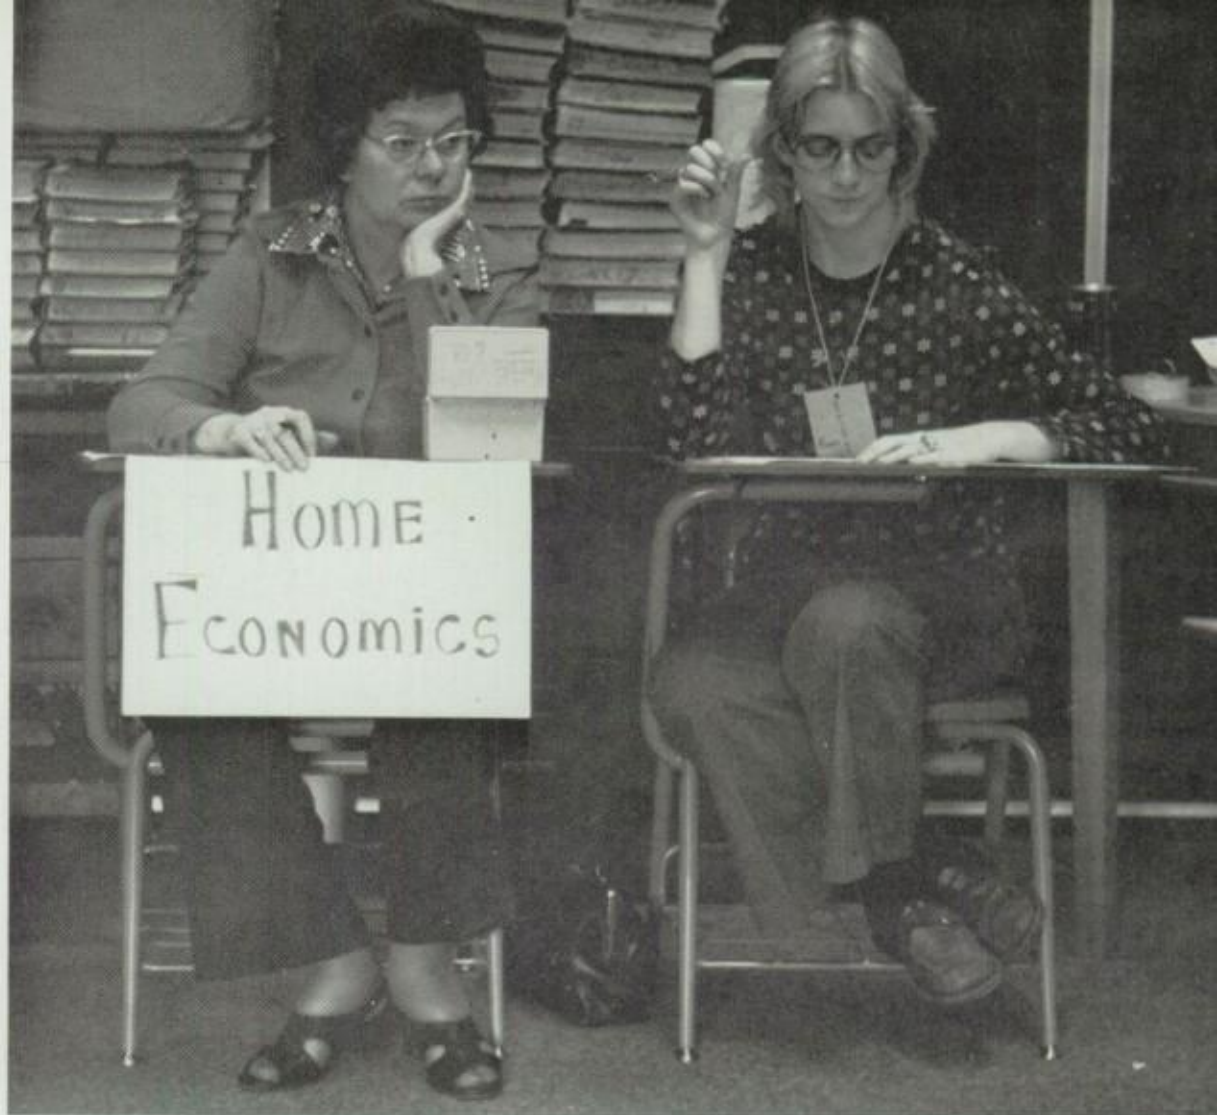

Evening Events Highlight Gala Weekend

Prior to the homecoming game against Winder-Barrow, the senior players and their sponsors were recognized. At half-time, the band performed while the class representatives and their escorts were brought onto the field. As the theme song "Colour My World" was played by members of the band, popular senior Jennifer Peevy was crowned 1975 Homecoming Queen. To top off the night, South's Comets soundly defeated Winder-Barrow 13-6. To bring a flamboyant homecoming weekend to a close, this year's dance, which also followed the "Colour My World" theme, was held on Saturday in the gym. The band Fantisy provided the entertainment for a bright finish to a spirited homecoming weekend.

Winning Season Evades Comets Despite Consistent Struggle

Just because a team outplays most of its opponents does not mean that it will have a winning season. This was the case with the '75 Comet football team. Despite the won-lost record of 4-5-1, the Comets dominated their games statistically in many categories. In total offense per game, the Comets edged the average of their opponents by averaging 199.4 yards to their opponents 189.7. In the category of rushing yardage per game, the Comets outran their opponents 160.4 to 129.1 yards per game. The Comets also dominated in the department of first downs by rolling up an average of 10.9 per game and allowing only 8 to its opponents. However, the Comets failed to dominate in the most important category, total points. Although the defense gave up only an average of 12.6 points per game, the offense was able to put an average of only 8.9 points on the board.

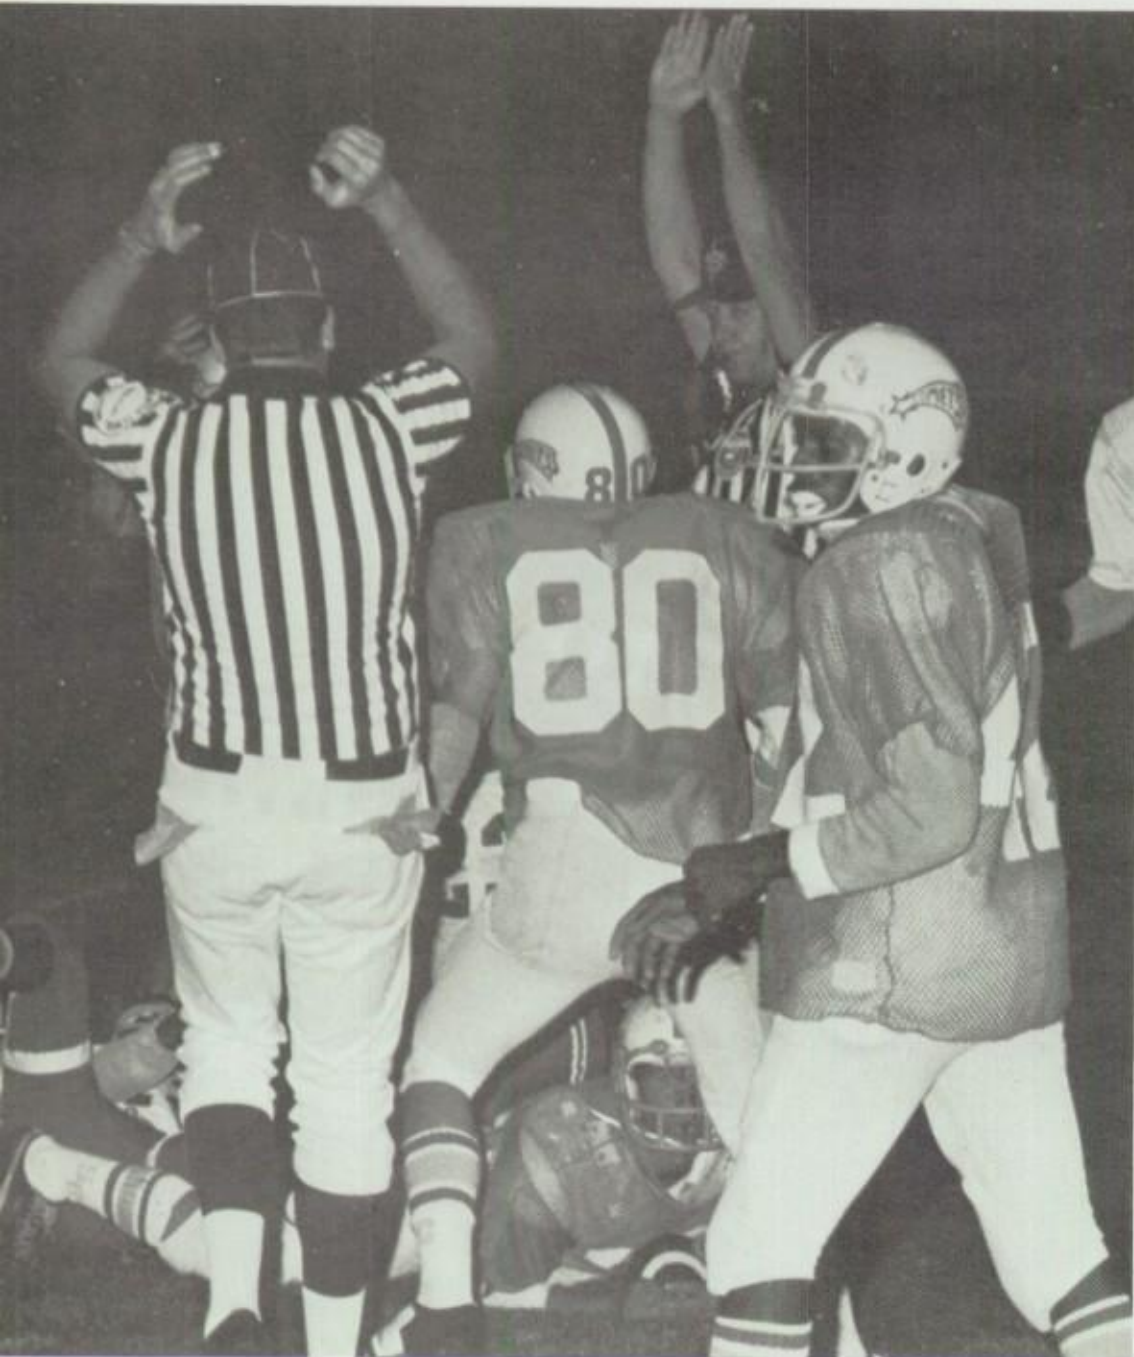

The beginning of the season was almost a duplicate of the season before as South lost four of its first five games to tough opponents. The fortunate exception was the 13-6 victory over Monroe. These four losses were filled with frustration for the Comets as the defense played consistently well most of the time, but was often beaten by a big play. The offense was frustrated as the Comets moved the ball relatively well most of the time, but it was unable to put points on the board.

The final half of the season also resembled the season of the 1974 team as the Comets turned things around and lost only one of their final five games. Victories over Norcross, Winder-Barrow and North Hall reflected an improvement in the Comet offense and an even stingier Comet defense. In the final four games, the Comets more than doubled the score of their opponents.

At the season's end, it was evident that several Comet players had had exceptional seasons. Johnny Kipa led the team in rushing with 191 attempts for 919 yards, an average of 4.8 yards a carry. Kipa, who also led the team in scoring with six touchdowns, was followed by Ric Jarvis who rushed 65 times for 257 yards, an average of 3.4 yards a carry. Many defensive players, notably Mike Inman and Vince Cowell, also played well throughout the season.

Potent Comet Scoring Attack Nets Subregion Title

A potent, balanced scoring attack, complemented by a consistently stable defense, boosted the South Gwinnett girls basketball team to the Gwinnett County Championship, the Subregion 8AA West Championship, a runner-up position in the Region 8AA, and an invitation to the State Class AA Tournament in Smyrna. The Comets' high level of success was not surprising since the statistics revealed that the Comets dominated opponents both offensively and defensively, outscoring opponents by an average of more than ten points per game and out rebounding opponents by an average of seven rebounds per game. In addition, the Comets' field goal percentage and free throw percentage greatly surpassed that of its opponents.

A high point of the season for the Comets was the Gwinnett County Tournament. After high scoring victories over Dacula and Norcross, the Comets blasted Buford 47 to 42 and captured the Gwinnett County Title. For their outstanding efforts in the tournament, Kay Bruce, Debbie Ford, and Pam Chadwick were named to the All-Tournament Team. Kay Bruce was also named most valuable player.

Comets Excel at County Tournament

February 6, 1976, culminated a rewarding season filled with exciting victories and narrow defeats for the Comet boys basketball team. Exceptional play by Mike Inman, who led the team in scoring and rebounding, and Curtis Woods, who anchored the Comet defense and led the team in steals, and many other Comet players, such as Greg Bender, Chuck Hewatt, and Sandy Adams, resulted in a runner-up position in the Gwinnett County Tournament, and a new school scoring record of 113 points. Because of their outstanding efforts during the tourney, Mike Inman and Curtis Woods were named to the All-Tournament Team.

Reluctant Bride Creates Farcical Crisis

At the rising of the curtain, silence descended upon the expectant audience as another performance of VISITOR FROM FOREST HILLS began. The one-act play focuses on the problems created when Mimsy, a bride-to-be, played by Gwen Anderson, locked herself in a bathroom of New York's Plaza Hotel. Mimsy refuses to co-operate with her father, portrayed by Tim Tew, and her mother, portrayed by Janie Allen. Finally, she leaves the bathroom when her fiancé, Borden Eisler, played by Robyn Jackson, tells her to come out. Directed by Shelby Rawlins, the players captured the first place in Region 8AA competition. However, they failed to place in state competition. On Thursday, January 15, 1976, a performance was presented for the community's enjoyment.

The American ideals and dreams influence every phase of our lives in and out of school. However, complete comprehension of their impact on our lives is not possible unless these ideas be lost. As the greatest nation the world has ever known, America attempts to preserve these ideals for eternity.
 But the key to the immortality of these dreams and ideals lies within the hearts of every American; within the hearts of t the very beginning of America's history, people joined together, determined to improve the world they lived in. Heedless of the obstacles they encountered, they reached their goal and established a republic. At South Gwinnett, a variety of clubs and organizations participate in projects which are helpful to others and worthwhile contributions to society. Through all their efforts these organizations diligently strive . . .

To Form a More Perfect Union

Interpreter Staff

Putting in many long hours after school, South's INTERPRETER Staff strives to meet the news needs of its high school readers. This work results in the publication of a bi-quarterly newspaper.

Quill and Scroll

Quill and Scroll is a honorary organization that promotes the study of journalism. Students earn membership by demonstrating superior journalistic talents and are admitted into the Quill and Scroll upon recommendation of their advisors. Other goals are to promote exact and dispassionate thinking, and clear, forceful writing, as well as creativity. Perhaps the main purposes of the Quill and Scroll are to instill in students the ideal of scholarship and to advance the standards of the profession of journalism by developing better journalists.

Beta Club

The purpose of the Beta Club is to promote scholarship, leadership, and good citizenship at South Gwinnett. Club members are required to maintain an A average, so a bout with bad grades results in a quarter of probation. Thus in recognition of the importance of scholastic achievements, the club plans to give to a deserving senior a scholarship at the year's end.

Not all arguing is done in a heated manner nor over a one-sided subject. In fact, it is often used to encourage competitive speaking on an interscholastic level. This is debate, and South's debate team has shown in the past that it knows how to dispute more than one fact.

This year the team membership swelled to nine, and with this growth came increasing enthusiasm. These combined factors led to an increased amount of success.

Among the more notable meets were the Johnson High and Subregion debates. At Johnson High the team was runner-up and in the sub-region bout it was a finalist. In all, South was represented admirably in a total of nine tournaments. Among them were the Pace Novice Tournament, West Georgia College High School Tournament, University of Georgia High School Tournament, and the Barkley Forum at Emory University.

Governor's Honors Semi-Finalists

Honoring those achieving academic excellence in the tenth and eleventh grades, the Governor's Honors program provides unique opportunities for expansion of scholastic horizons. Beginning at the school, prospective participants must successfully pass county tests and interviews. The students that endure the rigors of this system are rewarded with six weeks study at Wesleyan College in Macon during the summer.

Student Council

There is more to the student council than meets the eye. Besides promoting school spirit, the council encourages communication between students and faculty and organizes many school activities. Some of these functions are the Homecoming Dance, Spirit Week, the Valentine Dance, and of course, school elections. This year the student council presented a Christmas benefit for the Retinitis Pigmentosis Foundation. The event consisted of a skit presented by council members themselves and a visit from Santa Claus.

Cometa Staff

Production of South's star-spangled Bicentennial yearbook, COMETA '76, began with a bang as members of the staff brought home the sweepstakes award from the Georgia Yearbook Workshop at Emory University in August, 1975. Evaluated in the three divisions of copy, layout, and photo detail, the work completed by the staff of COMETA '76 during this week of seminars, group assignments, and an occasional game of air hockey was judged the best overall.

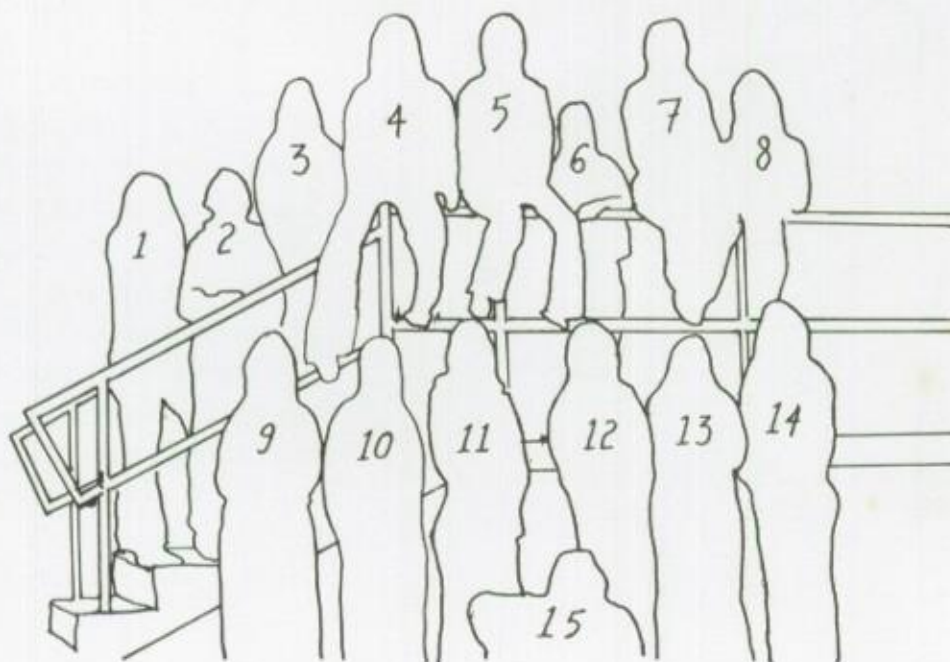

After such an exciting and rewarding beginning, enthusiasm was abundant as the staff returned to school, working every sixth period until a 2:20 call of "Wrap it up," and many days into the winter twilight. Their enthusiasm was dampened many times by such things as rainy picture days, missed deadlines. Attempts to relate our nation's Bicentennial to the 1975-1976 school year at South Gwinnett often seemed insignificant when senior girls' drapes were drooping or a careless error necessitated redoing an entire section. However, these discouraging experiences were outnumbered by experiences of enjoyment and feelings of accomplishment. The culmination of these experiences was the books' arrival when the staff members sat upon the floor of room 201, thumbing through the pages of months of demanding work.

The words and pictures of COMETA '76 are carefully selected and arranged in hopes of creating a meaningful remembrance of this year at South for each student. Nevertheless, many students view COMETA '76 as only a photo album useful for collecting signatures of friends. But to the yearbook staff, the book represents a part of themselves, expressed in their contributions of time, dedication, talent, and creativity.

Cometa Sales Staff

The sales group represents the COMETA Staff in the selling and distribution of South's yearbook. These people are nominated by their homerooms and serve as representatives for the COMETA Staff.

French Club

The French Club is open to any student who has had one quarter of French. Students may join whether or not they are currently taking French.

The club's approximately thirty members planned many activities for this year. In October, the club went to the Biltmore House in North Carolina. In the Homecoming parade, the French Club won third place with the members dressed as French bread, cheese, and French people. In December, there was a Christmas dinner and carolling afterwards. Later in January, the Spanish Club was invited to a crepe dinner. Then in April, the French Club held its third annual Mardi Gras. The year's activities were brought to a close by a soccer game, followed later on by a banquet.

Library Assistants

South's library assistants have many duties which help the library to function smoothly. Checking books in and out, processing them, typing, filing and arranging the different displays — all contribute to the enhancement of the library as a media center. Of the group, which numbers twenty, several are present each period to offer their aid. Social activities are planned at intervals during the year as acknowledgement of the assistants' help.

"I pledge my head to clear thinking, my heart to greater loyalty, my hands to better service, and my health to better living for club, community, and country." These are the words of the 4-H pledge. In order to incorporate this motto into their lifestyle, 4-H members with the help of their county's extension agents, complete programs in areas such as forestry, horsemanship, home furnishings, cooking, and garment construction. The skills acquired are demonstrated at county, district, state, and national exhibitions.

F.B.L.A.

One of South's largest organizations is the FBLA, which boasts approximately 120 members. Working to promote business leadership, the club participates in many activities. Besides, the basic duties, such as the officers conference in Macon and FBLA Day in Snellville, the club entered a float in the homecoming parade, worked in the football concession stands, and sold Christmas paper as a fund raising project.

F.H.A.

In order to promote the joys and satisfaction of home management, the FHA indulges in a number of school and community related activities. Among the many purposes of these activities is to develop interest in home economics and home economics careers. The organization's twenty-two members worked hard to attend the District Meeting in Athens, to give both a Halloween and a Christmas party, and to organize a Mother-Daughter Banquet in May.

D.E.C.A.

A special week in November was declared National DECA week in order to focus attention on the achievements of DECA members. During this week, new DECA members were easily identified by their odd dress and placard announcing that each was a DECA disgrace. This week was one of the highlights of the DECA calendar of events. Other activities including sales projects, district meetings, and competitive events helped the members of DECA to develop business marketing skills.

Advanced Chorus

In order to upgrade the choral department, South's musical ambassadors — the members of the chorus — spend many dedicated hours in practice. The results are excellent performances which are rewarding for both participants and listeners.

Band

South Gwinnett High School has a band organization that it can be proud of. For the last five years, the band has attended Ninth District Festival and received four superior ratings. In addition to this, the band participates in the Ninth District Solo Ensemble Festival, Georgia All-State Band, and Ninth District and County Band Clinics. It also gives a Spring Concert each year. Throughout fall quarter, the marching band's performances add interest and sparkle to the halftime activities at football games.

Last year, the band went on Spring Tour to Panama City, Florida, and they are planning more tours for the coming years. This year, the band, sponsored by the SGHS Band Association, is celebrating the Bicentennial by an exchange program with a Canadian band.

The purpose of the band, under the direction of Robert Wilbanks, is to help each musician develop musical skills and an awareness of culture and the art of music through individual study and group performances.

Majorettes

Becoming more proficient twirlers through participation in half-time shows, parades, pep rallies, twirling clinics, camps, and festivals is the main objective of the majorette corps. These girls plan to compete in the GMEA Twirling Festival with a corps and an individual routine.

Drill Team

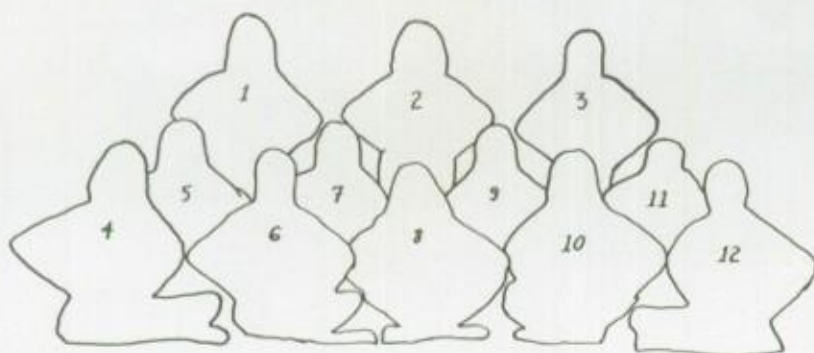

The thirty-eight girls who make up the South Gwinnett Drill Team have a busy year, participating in half-time shows and parades, and accompanying the band on tours. This year the corps will compete for a rating at District Festival. The Drill Team under the choreographic supervision of Miss Cynthia Hicks, works to develop physical and mental poise as they practice together for precision and timing in performances.

Varsity Cheerleaders

When twenty-five lively girls take the floor during a pep rally, one can feel a special kind of Comet pride radiating from their animation. One that says, "We're behind you, Comets, no matter what!" However, pep rallies are only one of the cheerleaders' many activities. Both the B-Team and Varsity squads help promote South's enthusiasm by selling

Letter Club

Earning a letter means two things, ability and dedication. Anyone around South who sports an "S" on his jacket or sweater is recognized as having both these gifts.

To earn membership into the Letter Club students must have played one season in a varsity sport. Making the varsity squad is usually considered an accomplishment, and this honorary organization seeks to recognize those who have achieved success for both their individual and team effort.

Pep Club

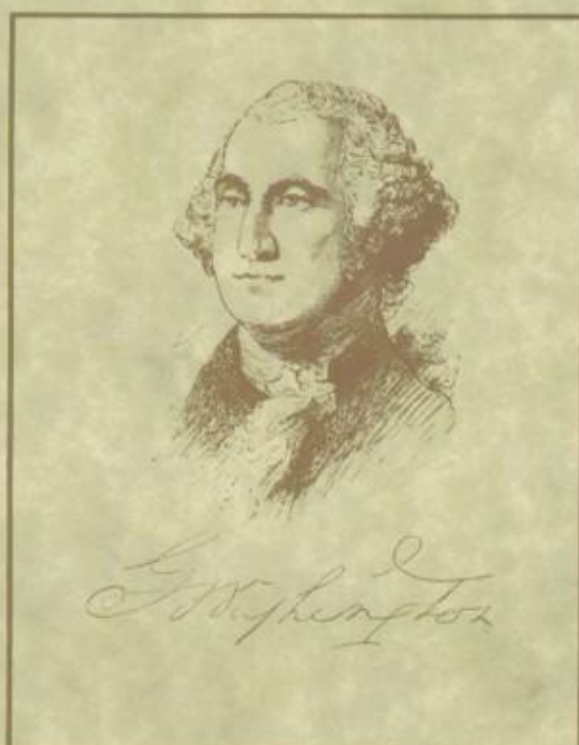

A new concept for the Pep Club this year was the idea of Secret Pals for football and basketball team members. Each member of the Pep Club performed a thoughtful deed each week for the player whose name he drew at the beginning of the season.

Being Secret Pals, selling flowers at homecoming, and cheering our teams to victory were just a few of the activities instigated by the members of the Pep Club to promote spirit and enthusiasm throughout the school.

Since the gaining of our independence, every July has marked a glorious celebration of victory. This spirit of America, outwardly displayed by sparkling fireworks and flag-waving parades, flickers inwardly inside America's youth, kindling enthusiastic support of the ideals of our founding fathers.

ustice, a cornerstone in the youthful but steadfast foundation of America, was greatly regarded by these idealistic men of 1776. Remaining a vital constituent of the American system, justice is inherent in the realm of school life as we, the students, are treated fairly by our superiors, allowing us to retain our dignity and respect as young Americans.

SIGNING THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

Another important American ideal, equality has enabled our nation to attain honorable distinction as a nation of opportunity. We at South strive toward equality and equal opportunities in academics, athletics, and activities.

These areas create a medium for self-expression which is prevalent among the people, past and present of the United States and of South Gwinnett. In a colonial silversmith's design or an art student's clay sculpture, the creativity and originality of America shines through.

Another illumination of America's entity is the ardor of fraternity among her countrymen. Aspects of this ideal, such as cooperation, fellowship, and brotherly concern, are freely displayed at South as students work together on science projects, converge together for lunchtime conversations, and console teammates after disappointing defeats.

he reason for America's greatness lies amid the concepts she stands for and the people who uphold them.

These ideals will remain steadfast in the future in the hearts of all Americans; the business executive, the workingman, the housewife, and the student.
